

Parent Comments

2019-2020

The Palmetto School at The Children's Attention Home provides opportunities for parents to submit comments on the Title I project and/or from parent meetings. The Title I project is available in the front office, and parents are reminded through newsletters, meetings, etc. that their input is important. Minutes are recorded at each Title I/SIC/PTO parent meetings to document parent suggestions.

Parents may access the Title I project anytime. Sign-in sheets and comment forms are located in the front of each notebook containing the Title I project. The Title I project is available from the front office at individual Title I schools as well as at the Central Office Academics and Accountability Department. Any parent comment/suggestions will be responded to in a timely manner, to include but not limited to: face-to-face conferences, telephone conversations, or e-mail or written correspondences.

Comments from parents that indicate the parents are dissatisfied with components of the project application will be addressed at the district level and forwarded to the State Department of Education following the guidelines outlined in the State Department of Education (SDE) Complaint Resolution document (see attached). Parent suggestions from parent meetings will also be addressed at the district level if necessary and will be forwarded to the SDE if needed.
