

Good Afternoon Parents,

I hope everyone is well. Thank you to those parents and students who have begun to work on assignments on education.com. Please continue to visit the site on a daily basis to check on new assignments. I will be contacting parents of students who have not begun assignments in order to provide support/assistance. As always, please feel free to contact me anytime. A few of the students have been doing extra assignments/games. I am giving extra credit to those students!!

I have been exploring the best way to send books electronically. I have decided to use Reading A-Z. This is a website with many books to choose from. You can choose fiction or nonfiction. You can choose the level you want your child to read. I have provided assignments to each student on their instructional level. This means that he/she should be able to read most of the book, but will need help with some of it. Any books below their instructional level is considered their independent level. The student should be able to read those books without assistance. This is a good time to allow your child to choose books that interest them. There is even an option to listen to the book. But when doing assignments, I have sent, please have your child read the book out loud to an adult or sibling who can offer help with words. Some of the books are long. So please feel free to take turns reading with your child. Modeling reading behavior is a great instructional technique! I am also attaching some reading comprehension suggestions.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR ACCESSING READING A-Z

1. go to www.readinga-z.com
2. enter teacher name- KGeorge12
3. Choose student name
4. enter student password- PASSWORD (<--- This is the password)
5. Choose assignments

Go to the reading room to explore other books. I am new to this, so if you run into problems or something doesn't work correctly, please let me know.
